MICHIGAN FILM OFFICE 2008 ANNUAL REPORT

FILM INDUSTRY REFUNDABLE TAX CREDIT OPERATION AND EFFECTIVENESS

OVERVIEW

On April 7, 2008, Governor Jennifer M. Granholm signed into law an aggressive film incentive package, part of an overall economic stimulus package design to grow the economy and create jobs in Michigan. The legislation was proposed by the governor in her 2008 State of the State address and was approved with bipartisan support from members of the Michigan House of Representatives and the Michigan State Senate.

Michigan's new film program provides incentives for film, television, and digital media production; infrastructure development; and workforce development. There is an added incentive for hiring Michigan workers and filming in Michigan's 103 core communities, urban communities, and traditional centers of commerce. It also provides a number of other incentives for growing the industry in Michigan, including enhancements for the Michigan Film Office.

Specifically, the new laws provide up to a 40-percent refundable or transferable tax credit for projects in Michigan, with an additional 2-percent available for projects produced in core communities.

The new laws also provide a 25-percent tax credit for film and digital media infrastructure investments for such activities as building new or expanding existing facilities.

Production companies are now eligible to receive tax credits issued by the Michigan Economic Growth Authority (MEGA) against Michigan Business Tax (MBT) liability for the creation of jobs.

In an effort to grow the number of film industry jobs in the state, the new laws establish a Film and Digital Media Worker Job Training Tax Credit of 50 percent for expenditures incurred by a production company providing on-the-job training for Michigan residents. Film, television, and digital media companies are allowed the use of state property for productions without incurring any location fees. This is an option local governments are allowed to authorize as well.

FILM INDUSTRY REFUNDABLE TAX CREDIT - OPERATION AND EFFECTIVENESS

The refundable tax credit has been very effective in attracting qualified productions to Michigan. While 35 states have some type of incentive for the film industry, only 14 are considered competitive. Michigan is currently ranked by various incentive groups and studios as one of the top three incentive states in America, along with New Mexico (tax credits took effect in 2003) and Louisiana (tax credits took effect in 2002). Since the legislation was signed into law, Michigan filming expenditures have gone from barely $2 million in 2007 to over $100 million in 2008.

In 2008, 136 applications were received. Of those, 71 applications were approved and 35 productions completed their work in 2008. The completed projects include:

Other areas will be added as the Michigan Film Office receives all of the project location lists.

The law allows production companies to request confidentiality regarding their budgets; therefore, only the total amount spent by the companies on Michigan jobs and products is being reported.

Total Michigan expenditures made by the 35 completed projects: $125,000,000

Estimated Michigan jobs for the 35 projects: 2,800

Film industry refundable tax credits for 2008: $47,992,000*

*Based on reporting as of February 3, 2009

Attached is an "Estimates of the Economic Impact of Michigan's 2008 Film Production" prepared by Michigan State University. This impact analysis represents 32 of 35 productions completed, which is the information that was available as of February 3, 2009.

As evidenced above, not only are Michigan's aggressive film incentives bringing new investment to the state, they also are laying the foundation for an industry that will support long-term growth. This is evidenced by the Michigan Economic Growth Authority (MEGA) board's recent approval of state tax credits for three new film industry projects. The combined investment for all three projects is expected to be $156.8 million.

Motown Motion Pictures LLC plans to develop a film studio and production services company with nine sound stages in Pontiac; Wonderstruck Studios LLC, part of Detroit Center Studios, will produce film content with an emphasis on computer-generated (CG) visual effects and animation in downtown Detroit; and Stardock Systems Inc., a software developer and publisher, plans to expand its Plymouth Township facilities to allow for the development and implementation of a new PC game.
